

Las Vegas FAASTeam presents:

General Aviation Accident Survival Briefing / ASRS Reporting

With increased and greater training and properly equipped for survival of forced landings or crashes, the FAA has determined a significant number of GA fatalities could have been avoided. It can happen quickly, finding yourself in a survival situation. Successful outcomes require knowledge, discipline, and planning. What training and preparation should all pilots take to increase their survival rate? Some of these factors will be discussed in this presentation. Speaker: Captain Richard McCann is a Combat Rescue Flight Lead with 1,000 hours in the HH-60G Pavehawk. He recently deployed to Italy as a Mission Pilot supporting Personnel Recovery alert missions for AFRICOM. Additionally Capt McCann has participated in several civil search and rescue operations at his home station, including a 10 hour search over the Grand Canyon during difficult low illumination and adverse weather.

Next will be a short presentation of NASA's Aviation Safety Reporting System. We will learn a brief overview of the program, how to report, the FAA's immunity policy for reporters, and how your report benefits the National Airspace System. Speaker: Cathy Stockdale, Lead FAASTeam Representative and CFII.
